

June 19, 2010

The Cridge Centre for the Family

Victoria City Police Department

The Commissionaires

Dear Community Partner:

Re: Brain Injury Survivor Identification Cards

The Victoria Brain Injury Society has talked about creating survivor identification cards for several years now. Thanks to you, our partners, this idea has become a reality. Ideas are always enriched with the input of various community groups contributing to a pool of resources, abilities and ideas.

These cards will help our survivors in stressful situations when they are not able to clearly explain their issues for themselves. Dealing with the general public, who is often uninformed about brain injury, can be a trial for our survivors with this invisible injury.

I am very pleased with the finished product and the feedback from members has been very positive.

Thank you all for your contributions which has made this project a great success.

With great respect and appreciation,

Carmen Burnay
Director of Client Services
Victoria Brain Injury Society.

June 19, 2010

The Cridge Centre for the Family

Victoria City Police Department

The Commissionaires

Dear Community Partner:

Re: Brain Injury Survivor Identification Cards

The Victoria Brain Injury Society has talked about creating survivor identification cards for several years now. Thanks to you, our partners, this idea has become a reality. Ideas are always enriched with the input of various community groups contributing to a pool of resources, abilities and ideas.

These cards will help our survivors in stressful situations when they are not able to clearly explain their issues for themselves. Dealing with the general public, who is often uninformed about brain injury, can be a trial for our survivors with this invisible injury.

I am very pleased with the finished product and the feedback from members has been very positive.

Thank you all for your contributions which has made this project a great success.

With great respect and appreciation,

Carmen Burnay
Director of Client Services
Victoria Brain Injury Society.